

THE CONTEMPLATION ROOM

The room is a neutral, inclusive, uniform space, open to staff and students. It is meant as a space where individuals can retreat, for a moment of private meditation or reflection.

HOUSE RULES

- The room should remain neutral
It may not in any way be claimed or appropriated by supporters of one specific political, religious or personal persuasion through decorations, inscriptions, furnishings, layout or the behaviour of users. Neither will any discrimination be tolerated by or between users on any other grounds.
- Please be silent
The room is meant for silent reflection; users are requested to respect the silence.
- Please leave the room as you found it
X attributes for meditation and/or reflection can be used, provided that they are stored in the designated closet again after use. Personal attributes are allowed, provided that they are removed again after use.
- Respect the house rules of X
When using this room users are expected to be aware of and comply with the house rules of X, which can be found on the website.