Evaluation criteria for Architecture

Portfolio and Letter of Motivation give the following profile of the applicant:

• Applicant demonstrates to have an academic approach to the subject of architecture, meaning a critical, thoughtful and open attitude to design, and the ability to link conceptual understanding with practice.
• Applicant demonstrates to have the required abilities to communicate in a concise way and to express ideas effectively.
• Applicant demonstrates problem based, solution-oriented and coherent approaches to the discipline of architecture and to the relationship between research and design.
• Applicant demonstrates sufficient knowledge of architectural typology and composition.
• Applicant demonstrates appropriate knowledge of applied building technology.
• The presentation of the projects in the portfolio in words and drawings explains sufficiently their architectural character and quality.
• Applicant explains his/her choice for the Architecture MSc programme and the reasons for choosing the programme at TU Delft.

All criteria must be met. Failing on one of them can lead to a rejection.
