Evaluation criteria for Management in the Built Environment

Portfolio and Letter of Motivation give the following profile of the applicant:

• In the portfolio the applicant shows a sufficient variety of projects to demonstrate that his/her knowledge from previous education and experience links with the existing specializations of the Faculty at TU Delft. Given the nature of track Management in the Built Environment we accept that projects in the portfolio will likely have limited links with management issues.

• The applicant shows evidence of his/her skills and competences as a designer, engineer and manager, particularly analytical skills, capacity of synthesis, and use of tools and techniques.

• Applicant has the ability to present and express ideas and has correct use of English.

• The applicant’s knowledge, strengths, and experience shown in CV, scores and references are consistent with the competences identified in the portfolio.

• The applicant shows a strong motivation and interest in the proposed specialisation.

• The documents produced by the candidates explain the individual approach and critical position of the applicant.

All criteria must be met. Failing on one of them can lead to a rejection.
